02 — THE PROBLEM

 Fragmented Across 10 Countries

Buyers must navigate dozens of local portals — each with different languages, formats, and standards. No unified experience exists.

Fragmented Across 10 Countries

Buyers must navigate dozens of local portals — each with different languages, formats, and standards. No unified experience exists.

Language Barriers Block Buyers

Cross-border property search is nearly impossible. International buyers can't navigate local portals in unfamiliar languages.

No Verification or Trust

Buyers have no way to verify agent credentials. Fraud and misrepresentation are common pain points across the region.

Outdated, Slow Platforms

Existing portals run on old tech — poor mobile experience, no real-time communication, no smart tools. The market deserves better.

08 — REAL-TIME MESSAGING

Instant Chat, No External Apps

The image is a screenshot of a mobile application interface. On the left, there is a sidebar titled "Conversations" with a dark blue background. It lists three conversations: "Marko — Budva" with a purple circle icon and a blue bubble containing the number "2"; "Ana — Ohrid Hotel" with a green circle icon; and "Besa — Tirana Summer House" with an orange circle icon. The main area on the right has a light blue background and shows a chat conversation with "Marko Ković", who is marked as "Online" with a green dot. The chat messages are in white bubbles on a light blue background. The messages are: "Hi! I saw the apartment in Budva. Is it still available? 🏠", "Yes, absolutely! Beautiful place — sea view, 3 beds. When would you like to visit?", "This weekend would be great! Saturday morning?", and "Saturday 10am works perfectly. I'll send you the address. 📌". At the bottom, there is a text input field with the placeholder "Type a message..." and a blue send button with a white arrow.
